DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1, 3, 5-6, 9, 11-15 and 18-25 are pending.

Claims 14-15, 24 and 25 stand withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 C.F.R. 1.142(b) as being drawn to non-elected inventions.

Claims 1, 3, 5-6, 9, 11-13, and 18-23, drawn to leukocyte stimulation matrix for the stimulation of leukocytes and/or the induction of immunological tolerance having a) at least one carrier, b) a soluble matrix and c) at least one component embedded into the soluble matrix for generating a leukocyte stimulation and/or the induction of an immunological tolerance wherein the component for generating leukocyte stimulation and/or induction of tolerance is specific antigen from a specific virus, are being acted upon in this Office Action.

In view of the claims amendment filed October 1, 2008, the following is noted.

Claims 9 and 21 depend from canceled claim 8.

Claims 11 and 22 depend from canceled claim 10.

Claims 19 and 20 depend from canceled claim 7. Correction is required.

Species Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of (A) component embedded into the soluble matrix identifiable in claims 1c), 5, 6, and 18, for example.

The species of component are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics. For example, these species of viral antigen such as herpes simplex viral antigen, cytomegalovirus antigen, bacterial antigen, fungi antigen, tumor antigen, allergen endogenous tissue, MHC molecules, co-stimulatory factors, cell component, and cell coating have different structure, and different mode of operation. Therefore, they are patentably distinct.

Irrespective of whichever group the applicant may elect, the applicant is further required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed leukocyte stimulation matrix comprising a specific component embedded into the soluble matrix identifiable in claims 1c), 5, 6 and 18 for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1, 14, and 24 are generic.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

Art Unit: 1644

Applicant is advised that the response to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
